

NICK'S NEW HEART

BACK COVER

NICK MAY OF CARTERSVILLE, GEORGIA ONE OF THE FIRST SUCCESSFUL HEART TRANSPLANTS IN THE UNDATED STATES, PERFORMED ON A ONE-YEAR-OLD, AS TOLD BY HIS MOTHER

Most people associate heart problems (or other serious organ difficulties) with old age. However, many children also suffer serious heart, kidney, eye or other medical problems that once were insurmountable. In the past, infants with the heart defect that Nick once had invariably died. However, with surgical and medical advances, this sad situation has changed, providing not only life for these children, but good quality of life. The story of Nick is similar to a roller coaster ride without any seat belts or safety bars. No one, not Nick 's doctors or his family, knew what was around the corner. Here is a true story that is often more dramatic than fiction, as excellent doctors worked together with a caring, intelligent family not just to save a life, but to provide a good life. Great experience, deeper understand, hope, love, faith, and steadfast support form friends, relatives, nurse, staff, doctors – and even form the towns of Rome and Cartersville, Georgia - have been the result...along with a wonderful book.
